Kennedy Refuses to Quit

Won't Oblige Truman Request To Step Aside

Says Nation Needs New Generation of Leadership Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy has replied with an emphatic "no" to Harry Truman's suggestion that he drop out of the presidential race for 1960. "I do not intend to step aside at anyone's request," the Massachusetts Democrat declared Monday. "I was the only candidate to risk my chances in all the primaries — the only one to visit every state."

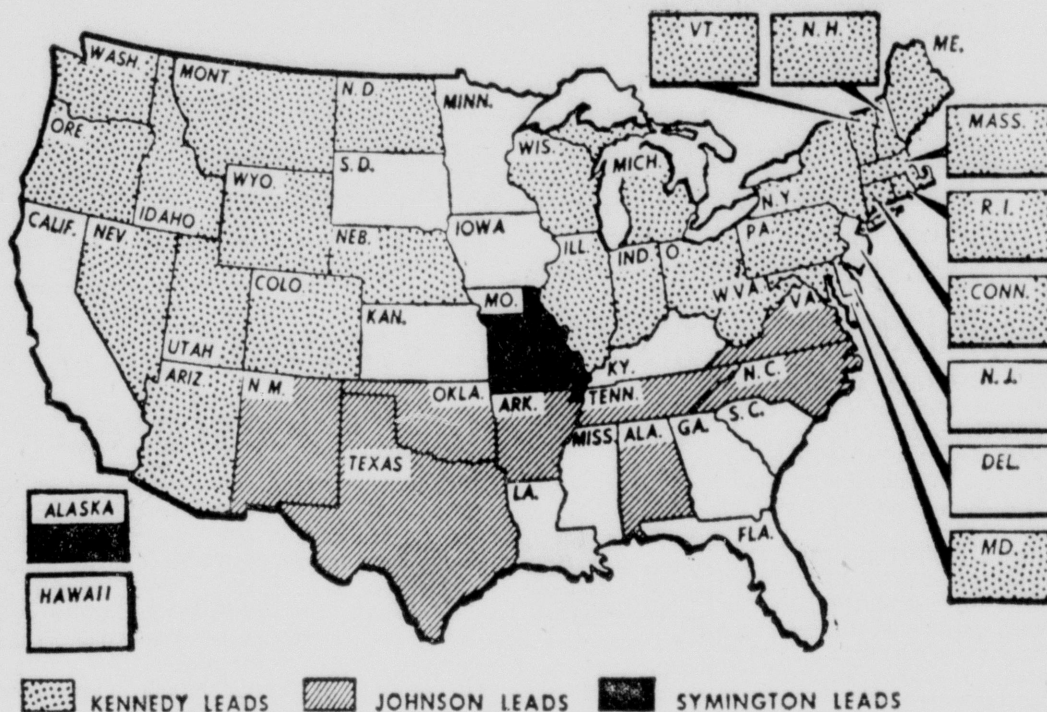

Kennedy, 43, told nationwide television and radio audience he is ready for the presidency because a new generation of leadership is needed to cope with new problems and new opportunities. After reading a prepared statement, he answered questions at a news conference.

Thus the front-runner in the Democratic party nomination race replied to the former president's statements that he is too young and inexperienced for the nation's highest office.

"I have encountered and survived every kind of hazard and opposition," Kennedy emphasized. "I do not intend to withdraw my name now, on the eve of the open convention."

Truman made his charge Saturday and threw in the implication that the party's nominating convention, which opens July 11 in Los Angeles, seemed rigged in Kennedy's favor.

To that, the senator replied: "To the extent that I have any Blank states are uncommitted to any of the three at the moment or where there is not present a majority for any of the trio. Present totals are: Kennedy, 538; Johnson, 211½; Symington, 77, with 761 needed to nominate.

thing to do with it, it will be an open convention."

Former New York Gov. W. Averell Harriman, supported for president by Truman in 1956, and Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin said they felt the reply would win Kennedy new support.

At Independence, Mo., Truman stated he didn't watch the Kennedy telecast and couldn't comment.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, a contender for the nomination who has echoed Truman's charges of a stacked convention, also declined immediate comment.

Kennedy interrupted a Cape Cod vacation to fly here for his rebuttal to Truman. At his side at the crowded news conference at the Roosevelt Hotel sat his pretty wife, Jacqueline, looking even younger than her 29 years.

About his own youth, the senator explained that young men throughout history — including Washington, Jefferson, Pitt, Napoleon and Columbus — have been notable successes.

He said he had been 18 years in the service of his country—as a World War II naval officer and as a member of congress for 14 years.

"I have traveled in every continent and country," he added, "and in the last few years alone, in every one of the 50 states—more than any other active presidential contender now or in history, to the best of my knowledge."

Referring to Truman's list of 10 other Democrats who would be good presidential possibilities, Kennedy declared:

"If we are to establish a test for the presidency whereby 14 years in major elective office is insufficient experience, then all but three of the 10 possibilities mentioned by Mr. Truman must be ruled out. All but a handful of our presidents since the very founding of the nation should have been ruled out. And every president elevated to that office in the 20th century should have been ruled out, including three great Democratic presidents: Woodrow Wilson, Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman himself."

Kennedy, looking tanned and fit, told reporters he expects 600 votes in early balloting and conceded he may have to do better than that. A total of 761 votes is needed for nomination.

Ohio Toll Of Deaths Set At 37

By The Associated Press

It was an expensive 78 hours, Ohio's Fourth of July holiday weekend.

In those 4,680 minutes were crammed the picnics, the visits with friends and relatives, the trips to the beach and for 30 people their last ride in an automobile or trip across a road.

That was Ohio's price for July 5, 1960—the second highest price any of the 50 states paid to celebrate Independence Day.

Besides the appalling highway slaughter there were four drownings and three other accidental deaths recorded by The Associated Press between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday.

Ohio Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys blamed the tragic holiday on "simple violations." And in many cases it was true.

The car that drifted across the center line for a moment near Wellington Friday night . . . four dead.

The car that swerved off a road near Steubenville Sunday . . . two dead.

And so it went. The holiday almost became the second consecutive one that Ohio had the infamous distinction of leading the nation's death rate. But California came from behind to put Ohio in second place this time.

The fatalities:

Friday Night
Deborah Sue Criswell, 3, of Cincinnati, when she ran into the street and was hit by a car in Cincinnati.

Charles Nakos, 70, of Akron, struck by a truck as he was standing beside his automobile in Akron.

Aloysius Cordonnier, 18, of near New Carlisle, in an auto collision at the intersection of Ohio 71 and a county road just north of Dayton.

Leon B. Conlisk, 53, of Monroe, Mich., in an auto collision just south of the Michigan state line in Fulton County.

Walter Zimmerman, 21, of Lodi; Leo Chabot, 22, of Rt. 1, Homer, Ohio; Shirley Dull, 71, and Jean Harvey, 17, both of Chippewa Lake, when the car they were in collided with a truck on Ohio 18 west of Wellington.

Elmer C. Creager, 40, of Dayton, when his motorcycle collided with an automobile near Xenia.

Paul Hickson, 19, of Rt. 1, Ashley (Delaware County) when his car was struck by a freight train at a crossing south of Galion.

Saturday

Robert Frank Schmidt, 21, of Norwood, when his car crashed on a road two miles south of Kings Mill in Warren County.

Edward Geldner, 22, of Mahoning County, when his car hit a tree near Poland.

James Crawford, 17, of Forest Hardin County) when his car left the road and pinned him between the car and a steel post.

David Back, 30, of Dayton, drowned in the Miami River near the Sellars Road bridge in Dayton.

Dennis Walker, 2 months, when a coffee table overturned and crushed him at his Dayton home.

Robert N. Wilt, 30, of Streetsboro, when his car rammed an earthmover on Ohio 33 near West Richfield in Summit County.

James Clare, 28, of Ashland, Ky., and his brother, Norman, 23, of Ludlow, Ky., drowned when their boat overturned in Lake Vesuvius nine miles north of Ironton.

The front end of a 1960 model car was demolished Monday evening when the car collided with a utility pole on Franklin Ave. just east of Broadway.

Police said driver of the car, Earl F. Shasteen, 40, of 718 N. Lincoln Ave., was cited for driving while intoxicated as a result of the mishap.

He was also treated at the Central Clinic for a cut of the lower lip and abrasions of the right knee. A passenger in the car, Patricia Votaw, 25, no address listed, suffered shock, but apparently was not treated, police said.

Shasteen was released on $500 bond pending a hearing tonight in court.

Toll Far Above Safety Council Prediction

Traffic Accidents Account For 420; 115 Persons Drown

By The Associated Press

Traffic	420
Drowning	115
Boating	34

The nation grimly counted today a record number of dead on its highways for a three-day Fourth of July weekend.

As Americans died amid heaps of twisted steel and shattered glass at better than five an hour, the toll surpassed the previous record of 477 traffic fatalities, set in 1955, well before the long holiday weekend ended last midnight. Straggling reports were certain to push the weekend toll higher.

Apparently only three states—Alaska, Delaware and New Hampshire — escaped without a traffic fatality. At least two states—California and Ohio—had 30 or more.

Toll Termed "Appalling"
The National Safety Council, which made a preholiday estimate of 370 traffic fatalities, called the record toll "appalling."

A council spokesman said it was the result of "exceedingly heavy traffic and the tendency by too many drivers to ignore the warnings and drive recklessly."

"We can only hope the shock of this heavy toll will have a sobering effect on drivers, not only on holidays, but every day," he said.

The weekend toll also eclipsed the 367 traffic deaths of last Memorial Day weekend, which also spanned the 78 hours between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday.

However, it fell short of the record Independence Day holiday toll of 491 traffic deaths during the four-day observance in 1950 and the record for any three-day holiday—609 traffic deaths during the 1955 Christmas weekend.

The record traffic toll for any holiday period—706—was set in a four-day Christmas observance in 1956.

The weekend toll soared far above the 348 traffic deaths The Associated Press, for comparative purposes, counted for a non-holiday weekend covering the same 78 hours two weeks ago.

Deaths from boating accidents, drownings and miscellaneous causes also injected sober notes in holiday fun, but none approached record proportions. The over-all total of all deaths, including traffic, approached 700, but this again was well below the record total of 805 for any three-day holiday, set during the 1955 July Fourth weekend.

For the third straight year there were no reports of deaths from fireworks, once one of the deadliest pitfalls of Independence Day celebrations.

Russian Dog Makes 5th Trip In Space

MOSCOW (AP) — A dog named Daring has made her fifth trip into space aboard a Soviet rocket and returned safely to earth, the Soviets reported today. A top rocket expert said this proves the dependability of the Soviet rocket recovery system.

A. A. Blagonravov, armed forces rocket research expert and member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, was commenting on a report that two dogs and a rabbit journeyed 130 miles above the earth in a rocket last month.

The dogs, the rabbit and the instruments were recovered fully intact, Blagonravov said, and were in fine condition right after landing and fit for repeated experiments.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the single-stage rocket, in a routine launching, carried a total weight of 4,629 pounds in animals and instruments and brought back valuable information on what happens to muscle tone in the weightless state spacemen will encounter.

Liberal Dems Win Again In Japan Election

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Nobusuke Kishi's ruling Liberal Democratic party was jubilant today over its second decisive victory in four days in a gubernatorial election.

Incumbent Hiroshi Kurihara, 60 was re-elected Sunday by a wide margin in Saitama prefecture bordering Tokyo. Kurihara polled almost twice as many votes as his two Socialist opponents, who ran on a platform attacking the Japan-U.S. security treaty.

Iwao Yamakazi also was re-elected easily on Friday against Socialist opponents who campaigned in the same party platform. Yamakazi is governor of Aomori, the northern province of Japan's central island of Honshu.

Both Aomori and Saitama prefectures are conservative strongholds and victories were expected for the Liberal Democrats. But the newspaper Asahi, Japan's biggest and a vigorous opponent of the security pact, said the number of votes massed by the conservatives "indicated the insignificant effect the anti-security pact demonstrations had."

The Socialists had invited the voters to "express your anger" over the treaty.

The left-wing student federation, Zengakuren, spearhead of the anti-treaty riots, split into three factions, all seeking to overthrow Kishi's conservative government.

Cuban Ministers Await Sugar Cut

Meeting May Mean Seizure Orders

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's cabinet ministers met into the early morning hours today. They were believed drafting orders for seizure of American property to be issued when President Eisenhower cuts the Cuban sugar quota.

Eisenhower was expected to act promptly on the authority Congress gave him to suspend all or part of the still unfilled 1960 quota of Cuban sugar imported into the United States. Eisenhower can also reduce or suspend the American purchases of Cuban sugar at premium prices for the first three months of 1961.

In retaliation, the bearded Cuban revolutionary has threatened to take over the property of Americans "down to the nails of their shoes."

The ministers met at the presidential palace at 2 p.m. Monday. Some were still in the squat, white three-story building at midnight. An official told newsmen that no announcements would be made and they could go home.

While the ministers were convening, the U.S. State Department said it was studying the situation.

Goldfine will serve his sentence at the federal penitentiary in Danbury, Conn., and Miss Paperman in the Middlesex county jail, Cambridge, Mass.

Goldfine and Miss Paperman were sentenced for failure to turn over certain books and records of Goldfine enterprises during an income tax investigation.

After failing to win a reduction of sentence, Goldfine's attorneys had sought suspension of sentence on the argument the millionaire industrialist and his secretary are scheduled to stand federal trial Oct. 3 on charges of income tax evasion.

Sentences followed a refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to act on their contempt of court appeals.

Goldfine was accused in a congressional committee investigation last year of presenting gifts to persons of influence, including Sherman Adams, former chief aide of President Eisenhower.

Adams quit his Washington post later, but denied the gifts were to influence him.

Peiping Shows Interest In Grabbing Cuba As Outpost

By WILLIAM L. RYAN Associated Press News Analyst

Are the Red Chinese pestering Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to grab a Communist outpost in Cuba while the grabbing is good?

Peiping's agents have shown an enormous interest in the events in Havana. And late last week, an editorial in People's Daily, the central newspaper of the Chinese Communist party, left the impression that Peiping believes Moscow might be missing the bus.

Western diplomats in Moscow and elsewhere, estimating Soviet intentions with regard to Cuba, agree that Khrushchev is an advocate of a cautious, go-slow policy. A Communist grab in Cuba would give the world movement an important outpost in the Western Hemisphere. But Khrushchev would be likely to look upon encouragement of such a grab as premature.

The Soviet Premier and his supporters have become earnest apostles of the go-slow technique. There are several reasons for this. Among them are these:

Khrushchev does not want to make any move at this time which conceivably could lead to a truly explosive Soviet-American crisis. And Khrushchev also does not want the Communists to grab territory which cannot yet be adequately protected by Soviet power. He does not want international Communism's eyes blackened by being unable to keep what it has grabbed.

This was the case in Arab Iraq, where, after the revolution of July 1958, local Communists considered themselves strong enough to strike for full power. Khrushchev forbade them to try. The Soviet Union had no common border with Iraq. A Communist grab would have provoked violent response from the Arab nationalist supporters of President Gamal Nasser of the United Arab Republic and possibly even from the West. It was highly doubtful that Iraqi Communists could make a go of it.

All this became public knowledge later on, when the Iraqi Communist leadership was required to admit it had made mistakes and contemplated even bigger errors. Khrushchev had not been ready for the risks involved.

It became obvious recently that the Red Chinese resented the last opportunity in the Middle East, where they had been throwing their weight about with increasing gusto. The Chinese Communists still indicate their impatience to grab wherever there is some grabbing to be done.

The People's Daily editorial argued that the United States in the past two years "has sunk deeper and deeper into innumerable difficulties" throughout the world, and that thus world capitalism today is off balance.

"The world situation at present," it said, "is excellent. The enemy is rotting day by day while with us things are daily getting better."

In such circumstances, it continued, a new set of facts governs situations in areas the Communists call semicolonial, which would include Iraq and Cuba. It refers specifically to the "heroic struggle of the Cuban people against U. S. imperialism," and said such struggles should be supported by the "proletariat — Communists — of the whole world."

Harbor Hills Hands Salem Double Loss

The Salem Polo Club went down to a pair of defeats at the hands of the Harbor Hills Club at Columbus over the July 4 weekend.

Harbor Hills trounced the locals 9-2 in Sunday's game and came back on Monday to eke out a 5-4 triumph. Superior horse power played a vital part in both victories for the Columbus outfit. Salem took an early lead in the July 4 tilt but faltered in the second half.

Salem will take a 1-4 record into its next game Sunday at home against Lancaster, Pa., on the Ellsworth Road Field.

REPRESENTATIVES MEET

CLEVELAND (AP)—Union and company representatives meet today to try to settle grievances at the Ford Motor Co.'s Walton Hills stamping plant. However, Dale Martin, president of United Auto Workers Local 420 said the company's "disciplinary layoffs Friday have dimmed our hopes (for a settlement) somewhat."

The disciplinary layoffs—most of them for three days — were meted out to more than 1,000 employees after the company accused workers at the plant of conducting a slowdown. The union and company have been negotiating for several weeks on problems of health, safety and production.

Britain Demands Oil Plant Be Restored

LONDON (AP)—Britain demanded that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan restore the seized Shell oil refinery in Cuba to the company's operators, government officials reported today.

A British note delivered by Ambassador Stanley Fordham to the Foreign Ministry in Havana late Monday protested strongly against Cuba's takeover of the giant plant, owned by the British-controlled Shell International.

The British Foreign Office said there is no intention to publish the text of the note.

However, British government ministers may under pressure in Parliament give further details of their stand during the next day or so.

A Foreign Office spokesman announced that Fordham, who was due to leave his Havana post for reassignment, is now staying on while the crisis in Cuba continues.

Fordham is being replaced by Herbert Stanley Marchant, who is due to arrive in the Cuban capital toward the end of July.

The spokesman said the British government is continuing its consultations on the Cuban situation with the United States, the Netherlands and other interested countries.

The Cuban government Friday took over the refineries of the British-Dutch Shell Oil Co. and the American-owned Esso Standard.

The action followed by two days the seizure of the Texaco installations. All three refused to refine Cuban crude oil purchased by the Cuban government in a sugar-for-oil deal.

Boys Who Set Barge Loose Get Hearing
LISBON — Three East Liverpool youths, ages 11, 12 and 13, had a hearing this morning before Probate Judge Louis Tobin and freeing a barge on the Ohio river and also breaking a window in a machine at a carnival.

One youth was returned to his home from now till next school term, without being accompanied by one or both of his parents. He must also pay $25 for damages.

Of the other two, brothers, one was turned over to the county welfare department for examination, and the other was returned to his father. The two must also pay $75 for damages and restitution and the one with his father must not leave home without his father accompanying him.

The youths admitted turning loose the barge in the Ohio River belonging to Parsons Coal Co.

Surplus Food Dates Announced In County
Robert Bycroft, county welfare director, today announced dates for the July distribution of surplus food in four cities.

The schedule follows:

Wednesday, July 13, Salem City Hall — county welfare, Salem relief, soldiers relief.
Thursday, July 14, Wellsville city building — county welfare, Wellsville relief, soldiers relief.
Friday, July 15, East Liverpool Central fire station — county welfare, East Liverpool relief, and soldiers relief.

Distribution hours for all points will be from 9 a.m. till noon each day.

Farmers to Vote On Wheat Quotas July 21
No new farmers in Columbiana County have applied for the wheat allotment which closed June 30, according to Earl Lora, office manager of the agriculture, stabilization conservation office.

At the present time 2,400 farmers in Columbiana County are signed up and have wheat allotments for the purpose of price support.

Wheat farmers will vote in a referendum July 21 to decide whether marketing quotas will apply for the 1961 crop, Lora said.

Communities Call for Help For Peaceful Atomic Energy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A call has been sounded for a coordinated national program to help local communities obtain maximum benefit for the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The American Municipal Assn. urged that the Atomic Energy Commission take the lead in setting up such a program, which also would help the communities cope with radiation and other potential problems.

The association suggested its plan would require the collaboration of professional and industry groups as well as federal agencies and municipal interests.

In a special report on the community impact of the peacetime atom, based on a study made at the request of the AEC, the association said: "The effects of this new field of technology may be on a major of technology, influencing the economy and long-term development plans of localities, as well as creating changes in the immediate functions of local government. There is now no major national program dealing with these overall implications of the locality impact of atomic energy development."

Declaring that, for one thing, "a central clearing house of information on the local impact is urgently needed," the report said:

"At present it is necessary for local officials to make requests to many different (state and federal) offices in order to find out what information is available on such basic matters as (radiation) standards, training and the like. Then, the information is often incomplete."

"A central clearing house of information in this field should be set up on a national basis at the earliest possible time, and its location should be publicized."

The association said that its study, begun in December 1958, shows that while the nation still is only in the early stage of atomic energy development, the peaceful applications have reached substantial proportions and are increasing.

"Already," the report said, "there are several thousand licensed users of nuclear energy of various kinds located in some 1500 cities and towns across the country."

"Local communities have a key role and a direct interest in the development. They are closest to the point of impact. For them it means processes, new products and new types of industrial and laboratory facilities. It also means new considerations in the operation of local government, in the nature of peaceful nuclear development, responsibilities of local officials and in the lives of local residents."

Niles Sets Hearing On Garbage Problem
NILES — The Niles City Council has scheduled a public hearing July 13 at McKinley Memorial Auditorium on a controversial Niles garbage contract.

Two firms, the Niles Garbage Agency, which has served the city for 38 years and the B&W Sanitation Co. of Greenford, near Salem, have submitted bids.

City Council has indicated it favored the Greenford firm. Niles Board of Health, which awards the contract, but must be authorized by Council to do so, has recommended the Niles agency be given the contract. The Niles Chamber of Commerce also has asked the Niles firm get the contract.

OLMPIC STAR DIES

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I work with a woman who happens to be a good looking. She's very capable and is my right hand in business. My wife doesn't like her and never did.

When this woman was in the hospital I sent her a nice azalea plant and signed the card, using my first name.

I also went to the hospital to visit her and did not ask my wife to go along. I knew my wife would either sit there like a stick or start an argument, so I decided to go alone.

The woman is now recuperating at home and I went to visit her yesterday afternoon. I stayed only an hour and we had a pleasant time. She wanted to know how everyone at the office was and how we were doing with certain accounts.

My wife is mad at me for the following reasons:

1. She says I should have sent the plant from Mr. and Mrs.
2. She claims I should not have gone to the hospital without her.
3. She says I had no right to go to the woman's house alone.

Do you think my wife is justified in her complaints? Remember, this woman is my right hand.—G.A.W.

Dear G.A.W.: Things usually get fouled up when "The Left Hand" doesn't know what "The Right Hand" is doing.

Since your wife is suspicious and antagonistic toward this woman and you know it, you should have signed the card "Mr. and Mrs." to avoid trouble.

For the same reason you should have taken someone from the office along on the hospital visit. Ditto for the house call.

You husbands who proclaim your innocence at the top of your lungs, but then register great surprise when you hear an explosion.

Let's face it, fellas, you make your own trouble.

Ashamed of Parents

Dear Ann: Our daughter is 21 and has another year of college. Eighteen months ago she brought a fellow home from school and announced they were "engaged." On her birthday, a few months later, he gave her a ring.

We planned a party to make it official and told the fellow we'd like his parents present. He said it wouldn't be a good idea.

We still have not met the parents nor have we had any word from them. They live 300 miles away and we don't even know anyone who knows them.

We've told the fellow we'll go introduce ourselves to them but he says, "Better not."

In the meantime our daughter claims she doesn't care what his parents are like. We are very uneasy. What shall we do? — OLD FASHIONED.

Dear Old: If your daughter wants to marry him regardless of the mysterious background there's nothing you can do.

Strictly on a hunch, I suspect he's ashamed of his people and is keeping them hidden because they aren't fancy. Such an attitude demonstrates a lack of character which undoubtedly spills over into other areas. What his parents are like isn't nearly so important as his attitude toward them.

Still They Come

Dear Ann: After reading all the hints on how to make gelatin, I decided my recipe was the best. Here it is:

Warm a tray of ice cubes, throw in some gelatin, add fresh pineapple and marshmallows shaped like stars. Bring to a furious boil. Dump into a bowl which has been greased with mutton tallow, then throw the whole mess out. No one would it it anyway.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem has gotten me to the point where I think I will end up in a mental hospital if something isn't done. The question is — what CAN I do?

My husband's parents and my parents hate each other like poison. Of course I'm inclined to side with my folks and Frank sides with his.

When holidays come I wish I could crawl in a hole and stay there.

Frank insists we spend every holiday with his folks because "they are older and probably won't live as long as my folk." His folks are in their 50s. Mine are in their 40s.

Our two little boys are the only grandchildren on either side. My in-laws spoil the kids something terrible. They give them candy and cake when I say "no" and they let them stay up till midnight.

My husband says his folks love the kids more than my folks because they buy them expensive gifts. My folks haven't got the money and it makes me feel just awful when he says such things. Please, tell me what to do. I'm going to pieces.—LOLLY.

Dear Lolly: You need outside help. I suggest a frank talk with your clergyman. He should call on both sets of parents (individually, of course) and explain that they are ruining your marriage.

Holidays should be shared. Alternate between the two. And I respectfully suggest that you and your husband unwind emotionally from both sets of parents and become more independent.

Single Blessedness

Dear Ann: I am an unmarried, attractive, eligible girl. I'm not man-hungry, since I enjoy my career and have many outside interests.

I see no reason to be ashamed of the title "Miss" but thoughtless clods make a point of it by saying, "How come you aren't married yet?"

Invariably it's a single guy who poses the question. I'd be eternally grateful if you could come up with a good answer that would squelch them up once and for all. Thank you.—MISS WHO DOESN'T MISS MUCH.

Small World

Dear Ann: My husband is a wonderful man but he does have a few peculiarities. One of them is a love for maps.

He brought home an enormous map of the world and hung it on the wall in the living room. It isn't anything special, it's just a plain every-day map. When friends come in they ask why the map is there. He says, "Because I want it there."

Then they ask if we are planning a trip and he curtly tells them that we are not.

I don't want to make a big issue of it but that map is causing a lot of comment among our friends and I personally think it ruins the looks of our living room.

He says it's a nice conversation piece. I agree that it's a conversation piece but I don't care for the conversation. What do you suggest?—SMALL VOICE.

Dear Small: If your husband likes plain ordinary maps and wants to hang one in his living room, what's wrong with that? If you have children, they're bound to learn some geography. Enjoy the map while there's still a world.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Patients' Actions Confuse Doctor

I have written of the difficulties of diagnosis and the risks of self-treatment in the case of an acute bellyache.

I want now to warn you against unintentionally adding to your doctor's problem after he's been called to take professional charge of the situation.

First of all, there's the ticklish person (usually a teenager) who wriggles like a fleeing snake as soon as the physician's hand is placed on the abdomen.

Sometimes this reaction is so annoying and confusing that it's necessary to complete the examination with the patient lying in a warm tub and the examiner kneeling on the bathroom floor.

NEXT THERE'S the "calamity howler" who has sent in so many false alarms that even the most conscientious physician is reluctant to dash through rain, sleet, wind and snow to respond to the after-hours call to some member of the household who wakened from sleep with a colicky wobble complaint.

Then there's the strong, silent hero or heroine who'll admit to nothing. Sometimes this reaction is due to sheer fright, sometimes to the suspicion that any admission of pain or discomfort may result in cancellation of an upcoming business appointment, "heavy" date or sports contest.

FINALLY, FOR present purposes, there's the deceptive "free interval" that marks relief of pain when the nerve endings of an involved organ are destroyed by the inflammatory process.

"Don't bother to come," the alerted physician is told, "I used a hot water bottle (or an ice bag) and I'm much better. I'll call you later if it starts again." Thus, penny wisdom and pound foolishness!

Now if medicine was a true science, none of these personal factors could possibly influence the decisions of a physician. He'd come up with the same answer no matter who pushed the buttons or how hard the keys were punched.

UNFORTUNATELY for doctor and patient, personality reactions have to be considered in the interpretation of most problems, such as what to do in the case of an acute bellyache.

If you're wise, you won't compound your doctor's difficulties by wriggling while he's trying to examine you, by proclaiming your symptoms through a public address system, by clamping up and making no admissions, or by cancelling the call when relief of pain may be an introduction to the deceptive "free interval."

FIREWORKS FOUND

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Stark County sheriff's deputies are interested in recovering the goods stolen from the Shady Hollow Country Club, but they are more concerned about what might happen if someone should touch a match to some of the stolen fireworks.

The items stolen included about a dozen high-powered aerial bombs that could be very dangerous, the deputies warned Monday night. They were searching for a group of unidentified youths.

Just Find Us the Right Man

Sen. Mike Mansfield's tirade against federal bureaucracy the other day was one of the most brilliant and searching speeches on the subject we have seen. Had he been more careful in selecting a reason for delivering it and in placing the blame for the object of his criticism, we could agree with him the proverbial 100 per cent.

"The shocking disarray of departments, agencies and sub-agencies through which this nation tries to conduct the foreign relations and defense of the nation, at best, borders on a national disgrace and, at worst, courts national disaster," he said.

IT ALMOST SEEMED as if our own words—and those of millions of other citizens—were coming back in echo from the far side of the valley. We only wonder why the senator confined his statement to foreign relations and defense, when other bureaucratic activities more closely related to our own often appear more worthy of such scathing words.

"If we can draw any conclusion from the public record," Sen. Mansfield went on, "it is that this particular flight owes its origin more to bureaucratic inertia, lack of coordination and control and insensitivity to its potential cost than it does to any conscious decision of politically responsible leadership."

Oh, those familiar words again! Like cries from anguished taxpayers.

But again, we wonder why he confined his indictment to the forces behind a U2 flight, which, after all, was aimed essentially at protecting us from oblivion. How much more appropriate those ringing words would be if applied to innumerable other governmental pursuits, not the least of which is the conduct of the national legislature.

And why confine the charges to the present administration? If memory serves us correctly, the current alphabetic structure of government got its real start a quarter of a century ago under the leadership of Sen. Mansfield's own party.

AND, SINCE POLITICS has been brought into it, where was the "politically responsible leadership" on Capitol Hill, which has been controlled by the senator's party during most of the years of the two previous administrations? Sen. Mansfield can't tell us that the executive branch can set up and finance all those agencies and sub-agencies with a free hand. The Constitution forbids it!

Now that the senator has had his say on the matter, we will add ours:

If he can find us a man who can effect a "sweeping overhaul" of the bureaucratic abyss in Washington, we will assure him that man would have the best chance of being elected president any dark horse ever had.

People-to-People Peace

There still is hope that the U.S. and Soviet Union may live together in peace and harmony despite all the hate-America warbs by Nikita Khrushchev.

However, if this goal is attained it won't be by heads of government at the summit level but by the citizens of the two nations at ground level.

According to the recent series of articles by William Ryan, Associated Press news analyst who spent time in Moscow, the Muscovites aren't completely swallowing the propaganda blasts against the United States.

This must not only annoy the Soviet premier but also worry him. Even though he is a dictator in the truest sense, he is cagey enough to realize he can't back the desires and hopes of his people forever.

More and more as the Iron Curtain is penetrated by U.S. tourists, Russians are learning first-hand about the people Khrushchev continues to say are led by warmongers.

The AP series points out that the Russians are not only hungry for news from the West, including magazines and newspapers, but are interested in American clothes, the cut of the cloth and household conveniences.

Their friendly interest in striking up conversations with American tourists could turn out to be the best foreign policy ever for this nation in its struggle against Communism.

According to Mr. Ryan's report, the greatest change is noticed in the young people of Moscow, who are exercising more freedom of thought and action. They are copying the Western style of dress, and Saturday nights finds the restaurants of Moscow crowded with couples dancing to American tunes.

One wonders perhaps if Khrushchev doesn't feel now that his biggest mistake was letting down the bars to American tourists. Russians finally are getting a little insight to the Western world.

The Deming Situation

Keen competition on the domestic and foreign markets has affected the business of the Deming Company to the point where layoffs may be necessary in the ensuing months this year.

However, Walter Deming, president of the pump-manufacturing company, has explained to all employees he is hopeful that general business conditions will improve so that all furloughed workers can be recalled.

On the plus side of the ledger, Demings has expanded its sales department and is endeavoring to hire additional design engineers so that the industrial pump output here can be accelerated. The smaller pumps are to be manufactured at the plant which Demings has under construction at Rogers, Ark.

Demings has been a vital industry in Salem for so many years that its history is intertwined with the community. Rumors of the factory leaving town are wholly unfounded. What is transpiring is an adjustment period. Fortunately, Deming officials are confident of the future, and we share their enthusiasm.

Once Over

The Motor Truckers Association annually picks the Truck Driver of the Year. (If it can get him to slow down enough to be notified of the honor, and if his brakes hold.)

The 1960 winner is a Texas truck driver who hasn't had an accident in 14 years. This seems incredible to other highway users, unless he was using mountain roads in the back country and in an area free from hills and dangerous curves.

The average autoist observing motor trucks on the crowded highways has thought 14 hours of freedom from accidents must be a limit and that few drivers were trying for 15 or 16.

This column would like to see nominations for the "Fugitive of the Year From Hazard of Encountering Trucks on Open Roads."

Our 1958 candidate was Hector Pinney, private car owner who went almost a full week without being scared into nearest field by what he thought were runaway freight cars but turned out to be interstate trailer-trucks. But he got disqualified when we learned he drove only on Sundays.

Our 1959 man was Felix Muffin who claimed he drove his flivver on a thruway a month without terror but it was revealed that he had leaped out of his car and taken to the hills on several occasions.

For 1960 our Fugitive of the Year is Esterhazy Quodd who, driving one of the compact cars, had 46 horrifying experiences with motor truck drivers before he abandoned his car and took up the comparatively safer life of an astronaut, hell bent for outer space.

(Note: There are safe truck drivers, of course, and the Texas man named by truckers deserved cheers. But we never happened to meet many such.)

JOHN MORELAND, new president of the Fifth Avenue Coach Co., began as apprentice repairman and grease monkey with the firm 50 years ago. He didn't miss the bus or ever ask for a transfer.

House committee has put $25 day limit on living expenses for official trips, with $12 a day ceiling on hotel rooms. This makes the second martini and the shrimp cocktail impossible.

Sen. Kennedy could do a TV show "Band Wagon Train."

Johannsson got $153,000 for the first fight here after one year's wait. It's things of that kind which throws anybody off form.

From here on, "Is this trip necessary?" will guide the President and State Department in travel situations.

Herman Shumlin, producer, says Pa Knickerbocker can't sing. "I can do without Broadway, but can Broadway do without me?" He says that outside of Maxda Lane other cities have just as good attractions. "If visitor has seen Rockefeller City once and been to the top of Empire State building he's had it," he writes in newspaper letter. "Without Broadway there's nothing left but hot-dog stands, orange drinkeries and penny arcades." New Yorkers should make Herman eat those words, and without catsup.

Ya mean the tourists don't wanna see the Chrysler Tower, U.N., Jack Dempsey, Wall Street, Fifth and Park Avenues, Brooklyn Bridge, Toots Shor in an argument with Jackie Gleason, Coney Island, the Waldorf Greenway, the front window chess players and Greenwich Village? Our bet is that Mr. Shumlin is one of the many long-time New Yorkers who have never been out to see the Statue of Liberty.

Unconditional Surrender Is the Only Agreement

So it wasn't the U2 incident, after all, that really broke up the summit conference at Paris. The action of the Soviets now is in the spotlight.

The Geneva Conference on Disarmament reveals the Kremlin's game of provoking crisis after crisis.

The Soviets knew they couldn't get the Berlin problem solved their way at the Paris conference, so they wiggled out.

They have never really wanted to reach an agreement on disarmament except on their own terms—unconditional surrender by the West.

When this prospect failed, Moscow devised a scheme to confuse the issue before the people of the world.

As long as the Soviets thought the West was soft and flabby and that the peoples of the alliance could easily be frightened by nuclear test propaganda and threats of attack by missiles and rockets, the tactics used by the Communists were to encourage negotiation at summit conferences or at any other meeting.

Now, as the West turns a deaf ear to the appeasers in its own ranks who have called for "disengagement"—and as even the British Labor party turns away from its policy to put Britain's defense policies squarely behind the United States—the chances of a Moscow victory through deceptive promises and "negotiations" have vanished.

There still may be some misguided hope in Moscow that the American political campaign will find the Democrats indicating a course more favorable to the Soviet cause than the Republican administration has followed but this fantasy, too, will soon be dispelled.

AMERICANS of all political faiths stand together as they perceive how untrustworthy are the professions of the Soviet government.

It is too bad that the Communists have so far misjudged the temper of the Western peoples as to walk out this week from a conference at Geneva which only a few months ago was insisted upon by Khrushchev as a means of achieving peace by disarmament.

To leave a negotiation summarily just as the West was about to submit new proposals is to display very bad manners. In fact, the actions of the Soviet government give the impression that its leaders are boorish persons.

Maybe they haven't emerged as yet from the era of Mongolian savagery in which their ancestors lived.

It is astonishing that the Prime Minister of Great Britain should find it necessary to write to Premier Khrushchev:

"I must tell you frankly that I am deeply disappointed, as well as surprised, at your decision to withdraw from the negotiations. The Geneva Conference was set up as a result of an agreement between the four foreign ministers last August; it cannot be properly broken off by any on group. . . ."

"Until agreement on disarmament is reached, we intend to maintain our collective defense arrangements. There is nothing provocative in this. You do the same."

THE PLAN of the Soviets to transfer the negotiations to the General Assembly of the United Nations will not deceive anyone.

It means abandoning a conference where technical experts on both sides have participated, and throwing the whole thing into a political arena, with no chance of agreement or direct negotiations.

Here is how Mr. Macmillan has just replied to the Soviet premier: "It seemed to us that some progress was being made. . . . For our part we do not agree with many of the points which your delegate has put forward at Geneva, as you do not agree with ours. But the whole purpose of negotiations is to try to eliminate points of difference and find common ground."

The United States delegate to Geneva Fredrick M. Eaton, who has maintained throughout a dignified and serious attitude toward the negotiations, made the following statement at the final session of the Geneva conference:

"What is the Soviet purpose in torpedoing this conference? The purpose is now clear."

"The Soviets sent their delegation back to Geneva, as the Soviets went to Paris, determined not to negotiate, to forestall negotiations—not to reach agreements but to prevent agreements."

"Just as Mr. Khrushchev torpedoed the summit conference, the Soviets have torpedoed the 10-nation conference. Clearly they seem determined to frustrate any serious discussion in which differences might be resolved."

Within a few hours after the Geneva conference broke up, the Moscow radio was accusing the West of dissolving the negotiations.

Meanwhile, the U.S. naval commander in Europe, Adm. H. P. Smith, issued this warning at a London press conference:

"This is not a period of holiday from history. We are still in it. The moment the Soviet Union believes they can blunt our retaliatory forces, you are in for it."

Thus does the Soviet government stir up crisis after crisis and, if history is a guide, sometimes this can lead to a miscalculation and finally a big war.

How long do the Communist leaders think the people of the Soviet Union can be kept in the dark as to who really is bringing the world closer and closer to a third world war?

Mixed Earnings

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Early reports on first half 1960 profits of American business indicate the totals when finally in will drop below the year ago figures. But net income after taxes are likely to be tallied six months and perhaps as second best.

The trouble isn't so much that some industries have run into a slowdown in sales or squeeze on profit margins this year. They have. But the big factor is that the year-to-year comparison runs up against a booming 1959 first half, especially in the April-May-June quarter.

That 1959 period set a record for any quarter in business history with profits running at an annual rate of 27 billion dollars. This was up 75 per cent over the previous year. The second best quarter was chalked up in 1956, also for second quarter, at 23.7 billion dollars.

The final figures on this year's April-May-June period are given little chance to equal last year's record, although they may push out 1956 for second honors.

An early hint on how first-half earnings are running comes from 100 companies who already reported. These are firms whose fiscal periods are earlier than the calendar years that most corporations follow.

Of the first 100 reporting, 58 bettered last year's figures and 42 fell behind. But those showing declines include some really steep drops that more than offset those who are ahead by varying, but usually modest, amounts.

This is especially true of the farm equipment companies, most of whom have already reported. They had a very good 1959 first half. But sales have been slow this year and profits skidded.

As a whole the 100 companies report $25.96 billion net profits, a drop of 15 per cent from the $26.396 billion the same companies reported a year ago. In each year there were 12 companies reporting net losses.

Until now profits have made a year to year gain in each quarter since late 1958, the first half of which was a recession period. But the percentage of gain has fallen almost steadily since the record 1959 second quarter.

Among industries especially hard hit in recent months are steel, aircraft and railroads. A drop in orders for the first two, and declining business plus rising costs for the rails, has brought them, as groups, well down since the start of the year.

Construction equipment and building materials also have felt a sales lag, and so have some machinery makers. Consumer durable sales have lagged, although makers of radio and TV sets report good business and profits. So do the food, textile and tobacco industries.

Banks as a whole are increasing their profits this year. The auto industry, despite some first-half profit problems, has high hopes for the rest of the year.

So, to borrow a word from the stock market observers, earnings are mixed. A fourth quarter rally is hoped for. And a large number of corporate heads say they expect final 1960 figures, to better 1959.

Cleveland Scores Two Wins Over Kansas City 4-0, 7-4

Bell, Bowsfield Pitch Victories

Senators Ram Yanks; Birds, Bosox Split

By The Associated Press
The Cleveland Indians, who looked like a bunch of dead in-juns two weeks ago, suddenly have trimmed the New York Yankees' lead in half and trail by just 1 1/2 games in the American League race after their second doubleheader sweep in two days.

With right-hander Gary Bell pitching a three-hitter for his first victory in almost a month and Jimmy Piersall back on the job, the Indians made it five in a row with a 4-0 and 7-4 sweep of their July 4 doubleheader with the Kansas City A's. It was Cleveland's eighth success in nine games and 12th victory in 15 after tumbling out of the lead while losing eight of 10 two weeks ago.

The Tribe closed in as the Yankees, despite a combination of unbeaten Jim Coates and four home runs, lost 9-8 at Washington in the only single game on the holiday bill in the majors. Coates escaped defeat, but the Yankees' winning string was chopped at six games by the Senators, who had just lost three in a row to Cleveland.

It's the 24th time New York has led the AL on July 4—and the Yanks have gone on to win the flag all but four times in the past.

Third-place Baltimore, blowing six-run leads in both games, split at Boston. The Red Sox won 10-7 before the Birds bounced back for an 8-6 victory. The Detroit Tigers took two from Chicago's White Sox, winning 3-0 and 3-2 with Jim Bunning pitching a three-hitter in the opener.

In the National League, Pittsburgh retained a 3 1/2 game lead over Milwaukee by dividing a twinnbill with the Braves. The Bucs on top on July 4 for the first time in 28 years, won 7-6 in 10 innings, but won the second game 7-2. San Francisco beat the Chicago Cubs 4-0, on Jack Sanford's four-hitter then played a 1-1 tie called after 14 innings by darkness at Wrigley Field, the only park in the majors without lights. St. Louis split with Los Angeles, winning 6-2 and losing 5-4. Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 5-0 on Jay Hook's four-hit pitching, but the Phillies won the second game 5-2.

Bell (7-6) allowed nothing but singles, walked two and struck out four while the Indians banged Ray Herbert (3-9) for nine hits. An infield hit by Marty Keough, who had been subbing for Piersall in center field, and a two-out double by Harvey Kuenn gave Cleveland the winning run in the first inning.

Piersall, ordered home for a rest a week ago, returned in the second game and scored Kuenn with a two-out single in the eighth for a 5-3 lead. Johnny Romano's second home run of the game capped the three-run eighth. Ken Aspromonte also hit a two-run homer for the Tribe as Ted Bowsfield squared his record at 4-4. Johnny Kucks (1-3) lost it.

Yankee reliever Ryne Duren (2-3) forced in the winning run by walking Reno Bertoia on four pitches in the ninth after retiring two with the bases loaded. Pete Whisenant, who walked and scored the tying run on Bob Allison's single in the eighth, drove in three Washington runs, two with his first AL homer. Tammie Jim Lemon also hit a two-run homer, his 20th, while Mickey Mantle (20), Hector Lopez, Gil McDougald and Bob Cerv homered for New York. Don Lee (4-3) won it in relief.

Boston beat reliever Hoyt Wilhelm (5-6) in the opener with five runs in the eighth, breaking a 7-7 tie as second baseman Marv

Pirates, Braves Split Two; Giants Tounce, Tie Cubs

By The Associated Press
The Pittsburgh Pirates are on top after the July 4 firing for the first time in 28 years, riding a 3 1/2-game lead that's the biggest bulge any National League club has had at this stage in five seasons.

They have done it after: 1. Winning just three of their last 10 games, 2. Failing to get a victory from either of their two pitching aces in five starts between them, 3. Blowing a five-run lead behind their No. 1 relief man.

So how? Easy. Milwaukee's second-place Braves have lost eight of their last 12, and the third-place San Francisco Giants have won only five of their last 14.

The limping leaders split a doubleheader at Milwaukee Monday blowing a five-run lead behind Bob Friend and Erloy Face as the Braves won the opener 7-6 in 10 innings. But the Pucs took the second game 7-2 on a dandy six-hit job by southpaw Harvey Had-dix.

The Giants won 4-0 at Chicago as Jack Sanford put away his second straight shutout with a four-hitter. Then the Cubs held them to a 1-1 tie in the nightcap, called after 14 innings because of sedaan krr ts Wrygi eietlF e,ldh darkness at Wrigley Field, the only park in th amjotirhwoue only park in the majors without lights.

St. Louis split with Los Angeles, winning 6-2 before a 5-4 loss. Philadelphia escaped the cellar by defeating Cincinnati 5-2, after the Reds took the opener 5-0 on a four-hitter by Jay Hook.

In the American League, the New York Yankees lost 9-8 at Washington in a single game and second-place Cleveland cut their lead to 1 1/2 games by sweeping Kansas City 4-0 and 7-4. Third-place Baltimore lost 10-7, then won 8-6 at Boston. Detroit took two from the Chicago White Sox, 3-0 and 3-2.

Al Spangler's two-out single did it for the Braves in the 10th against Face (5-4), who had won five in a row. Warren Spahn (7-5) won it with three innings of hitless relief. Two-run homers by Bob Skinner and Dick Stuart helped build a 6-1 lead for Friend. Hank Aaron's 2nd home run, with one on 2nd, ended Friend in the eighth, and Del Crandall's solo 12th homer tied it in the ninth against Face.

It was the first extra-inning game lost by the Bucs in eight this season, but they bounced back as Haddix (5-4) pitched his first winning complete game against the Braves in 14 tries since Sept. 14, 1956. The little lefty, who lost a perfect game to Milwaukee last season, blanked out seven feet from the stick. Souchak rolled his putt to within seven feet.

Brewer, putting first, left the ball on the lip of the cup for a bogie five. Souchak stroked in the winner for a 282 total.

Brewer, finishing with a 71, and Wall with a 69, each collected $3,800 for second place. Wall nearly made himself a repeat champion with his closing rush of 33 on the final nine holes. He and Dow Finsterwald tied at 282 last year and Wall won an 18-hole playoff.

Brewer was one of the co-leaders after 54 holes. Don January and Gene Littler, who shared the lead, finished with 74s and tied young Dave Hill at 286. Each won $2,333.33.

Johnny Pott and Al Geiberger trailed at 287, collecting $1,800 each. Mason Rudolph, who slipped to a 76 after having a piece of the third-round lead, deadlocked with Sam Snead at 288 for $1,550.

Breeding held the ball after a forceout at second, believing it to be the third out. Mike Fornieles (5-1) was the winner in relief.

The Orioles won the second game with two unearned runs in the eighth on a pair of errors by All-Star third baseman Frank Malzone. Rookie Ron Hansen, the All-Star shortstop, singled home the clincher with two out. Billy Hoelt (1-1) was the winner, but Billy Muffett (0-1) the loser, both in relief.

The Tigers, after losing five straight, beat Frank Baumann (4-4) for the first time in seven career decisions. A pair of RBI singles by Chico Fernandez and Bunning in the second inning did it. Nellie Fox had two of Chicago's walked one, struck out six and set off a rumpus by hitting Minnie Minoso in the first inning. Minnie threw his bat at the Tiger right-hander and was ejected. He returned to left field in the nightcap and became a target for debris from Tiger fans.

A sixth-inning home run by Norm Cash broke a tie in the second game and gave the decision to Dave Sisler (5-2), who had five shutout innings of one-hit relief. Bob Shaw (7-8) was the loser, although allowing just four hits.

Pat Mancuso said today that he will resign today as head football coach at Leetonia High School to accept a similar position next fall at Princeton High School in Sharonville, a Cincinnati suburb.

Mancuso also revealed that Fran Burns, who served as backfield coach at Leetonia last season, will join him as an assistant coach at Princeton High. Burns was graduated from Mt. Union College two years ago.

Mancuso, who served as Leetonia's head coach for five seasons, says he and his family will leave for Sharonville immediately after the Ohio-Pennsylvania All-Star football game to be played in East Liverpool on July 30. Mancuso will be one of the coaches for the Ohio team.

AT PRINCETON High, Mancuso will be assigned the task of building a football program. The recently consolidated four-grade high school has an enrollment of approximately 1,100 students. Princeton competes in the Hamilton County Athletic League.

Mancuso will be an assistant coach in another sport at Princeton and will teach social studies. "This was a very hard decision to make," Mancuso, a lifelong resident of Leetonia commented, "Between Beaver Falls and Massillon, I believe the best high school football in the country is played. I hate to leave it."

"I also hate to leave all my friends in this area, but the Princeton job looks like a very good opportunity," he added.

THE MOVE to Princeton will mean a "substantial" increase in salary for the coach.

Mancuso was graduated from Leetonia High School in 1946. He received All-Ohio honors while playing football for the Bears. He later went on to make the All-Ohio Conference team as an end while playing at Mount Union. He was graduated from Mount in 1952.

While at Leetonia, Mancuso coached such outstanding football talent as Lou Altomare, Bob Peet and Bob Osterling, all of whom made All-Ohio teams.

Mancuso, who is 31, is married to the former Helen Briggs of Leetonia. They have one son, Steven, nine months.

Mike Green Upset In Tennis Tourney

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., third seeded at the Tri-State Tennis Tournament, was the first victim of a tournament upset.

Unranked John Maloney of Springs, South Africa, turned the trick in Monday's first round matches, 6-1, 6-1.

Top seeded Mike Franks of Los Angeles breezed through his test, 6-2, 6-2, over Jackie Cooper of Louisville, Ky. Defending singles champ Whit Reed of Alameda, Calif., had similar success, topping Craig Mielke, Columbus, 6-1, 6-3.

Maloney is part of a big international group at the first Tri-State, scheduled for six more days. Entrants from England, Chile, Ecuador and South Africa also hammered their way through first round tests.

Mansfield, Ohio's John Kline was defeated by one of the foreign contingent, Roberto Leon of Vina Del Mar, Chile, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1.

Roberts' Hitting, Pitching by Meissner Aid All-Stars to Win

The heavy hitting of Jeff Roberts and the pitching of Moe Meissner, both of the Salem Merchants, led the County-City Baseball League All-Stars to a 5-4 victory over Home Club of the Youngstown Class AA League Monday at East Palestine.

Roberts connected for two doubles and a single and batted in three of the All-Stars' five runs. Meissner did most of the hurling for the All-Stars. He was spelled briefly by Timmons of Chippewa and Dave Hunter of Salem. Meissner received credit for the victory.

Redlegs, Phils Split 2 Games

Hook Hurls 4-Hitter; Conley Leads Phillies

Hutchinson with a keen eye for pitching talent—even in youngsters with a lot to learn.

Jay Hook is one of the Cincinnati manager's boys and today he's the toast of the Redleg pitchers, holding his first big league shutout.

Hook dazzled the Philadelphia Phillies with a four-hitter Monday for a 5-0 victory in the first game of a doubleheader.

The big Red bats faded in the nightcap and basketballer-baseballer Gene Conley pitched the Phils to a 5-2 victory.

Hutchinson first had Hook at the Reds' Seattle farm team last season and saw great promise in him. Hook, like a young Redleg colleague, Jim O'Toole, has not been consistent this year. That was expected.

Yet Hook has appeared better and better as the season develops. He now has five complete games among his seven victories. Only veteran Bob Purkey has more wins, eight—and Purkey has only three complete jobs.

Wally Post gave Hook a two-run cushion in the first inning Monday with a home run after Vada Pinson's double.

Billy Martin perked up the assault in the fourth, singling in Ed Bailey who had doubled. Martin did it again in the eighth—on a bunt. Bailey and Roy McMillan singled and Bailey scored when Martin knocked the ball out of Tony Taylor's hand at first base.

Eddie Kasko singled McMillan home.

In the nightcap, Cincinnati starter Joe Nuxhall pitched pretty good ball and trailed on 3-2 until he was chased in the eighth.

In the eighth, Bobby Del Greco and Taylor doubled for one run and after Jim Brosnan took over pitching duties, Taylor scored on Pancho Herrera's sacrifice fly.

Nuxhall yielded singles to Herrera and Ted Lepcio in the fourth and Jim Coker slammed a two-run triple.

Herrera homered in the sixth. The Reds' only gesture against Conley came in the seventh, when singles by Gus Bell, Post and Bailey and McMillan's sacrifice fly netted two runs.

Conley calmly choked off the rally and finished an eight-hit victory.

The series continues tonight with Don Newcombe opposing Robin Roberts on the mound.

NON-FICTION

"Folk songs and Folk songs in America" by Ray M. Lawless. This book is divided into three parts, 1. The Singers, 2. Collections of Ballads and Folk songs, 3. Folk songs Titles and Discography. To make an inclusive listing of this art would be much beyond the scope of a single volume and perhaps even decrease the usefulness of the work. From his more than 25 years of interest and study of the subject, Mr. Lawless has used definite criteria to form the basis of inclusion for his subjects. The material is not only wide in scope but interestingly presented.

"The Horse and the Blue Grass Country" by Bradley Smith. A superbly beautiful book about the most interesting and colorful part of our country by one of the country's outstanding reporter-photographers.

"The Art of Ruth Draper" by Morton Dauwen Zabel. A collection of the monologs for which Miss Draper was famous, with her own stage direction, as well as a short biography.

"Never be Lonely" by Pauline Woodruff Titus. Many stories about various types of people and how they solved or failed to solve their problems of loneliness. This little book of practical advice on a problem that comes to every person at some time in his life.

"Women and Fatigue" by Dr. Marion Hilliard. A woman doctor with long experience in treating women gives sound practical advice on how to avoid fatigue and thus live a much happier and more useful life.

"Take it Easy Before Dinner" by Ruth Langland Holberg. Recipes for dishes which can be prepared ahead of time so that you may be free from last-minute bustle and worry.

"Japanese Flower Arrangement for American Homes" by Mary Badham Kittel. Using materials readily available, the author presents principles of classic Japanese flower arrangements along with explicit directions for various types of arrangements suitable for American homes. Profuse illustrations and diagrams make directions even more easily understood.

"China Collector's Guide" by Stanley W. Fisher. An English publication intended to interest a beginner in collecting and entice him into further study. Only representative wares from the chief English potters have been included.

"Pennsylvania Clocks and Clockmakers" by George H. Eckhardt. Not a brand new title, as it was published in 1955, but a carefully done treatise on a subject not otherwise available. A welcome addition to a fine collection on antiques.

"My Father, Charlie Chaplin" by Charles Chaplin Jr., with N. and M. Rau. An affectionate recollection of the man whose life has been an enigma even to his own family. From the days of poverty and hunger on London streets, through fabulous wealth and adulation in this country and elsewhere, through recriminations and permanent removal to Europe we have the picture of a man desperately seeking peace of mind and finding it only at an age when most men are already for the quiet of age.

Nikita Fills Austrian Visit With Threats

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) —

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev continued his attacks on West Germany Monday night, raising the specter of a new Anschluss that would return Austria to German domination.

In contrast to the lighthearted tone of his motorbus tour through Austria's lederhosen and yodeling country, Khrushchev warned that the Soviet Union would not sit still if Austria's neutrality is violated.

He used these words to revive the memory of Hitler's takeover of Austria in 1938: "There are quite a few (in West Germany) who have not given up plans for creation of a greater Germany, who are not satisfied with the existence of an independent Austrian state."

He also repeated the Soviet threat to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany "with all the consequences resulting from that." If the West does not agree to peace treaties with both Germans and to make West Berlin a demilitarized, so-called neutral city.

This is the sixth day of Khrushchev's nine-day state visit to Austria and the Soviet leader is playing a variety of roles. Sometimes he issues stern warnings to President Eisenhower and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He is also a critic of modern art, a judge of Austria livestock and a joker with startled pedestrians he meets on morning walks.

Kennedy Followers Strike Back at 'Desperate Tactic'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Angry supporters today branded as opposition "desperation tactics" statements that Sen. John F. Kennedy is not healthy enough to be nominated for president by the Democrats.

The Massachusetts senator's brother, Robert F. Kennedy, struck back at critics in the camp of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas who said Kennedy suffers from Addison's disease and owes his life to the drug cortisone.

Robert Kennedy told a reporter: "These are desperation tactics employed by those who are trying unsuccessfully to stop my brother's nomination. These charges show how really desperate they are."

When Kennedy stressed in an answering New York statement that a young man of strength, health and vigor is needed in the White House, some of Johnson's supporters read into this an indirect allusion to the Texas senator's 1955 heart attack. Kennedy is 43, Johnson 51.

John Connally, who heads the Citizens - for - Johnson Committee, said Kennedy suffered from Addison's disease. This is a disease involving malfunctioning of the adrenal glands adjacent to the kidneys. It causes irritation of the gastro-intestinal tract. It is accompanied by weakness and irregularity of heart action and can be fatal.

India Edwards, cochairman of the Johnson committee, said he had been told by doctors she did not name that Kennedy owes his life to cortisone treatments.

Robert Kennedy fired a statement in which he said that "evidently there are those within the Democratic party who would prefer that if they cannot win the nomination themselves they want the Democrat who does win to lose in November."

Then the Kennedy camp produced a June 11 letter to the senator, signed by New York doctors Eugene J. Cohen and Janet Travell, which said that a December 1958 test showed "that your adrenal glands do function."

The two doctors said the candidate's health is excellent.
